

AG Announcements – 1/06/14

Congratulations to Ashley/Danielle's advisory group for winning the door-decorating contest! Next AG they will enjoy warm drinks and baked goods courtesy of Jen's AG. Thanks again to all those who participated!

Students interested in the Costa Rica intensive should attend a brief informational meeting in Danielle & Ashley's room next Monday at noon. Costa Rica is considered to have the highest density of biodiversity in the world. Highlights of the trip include visiting the Monteverde Cloud Forest and Mt Arenal, rafting through the rain forest, ziplining through the forest canopy, looking for nocturnal animals on a guided night hike, and exploring the Pacific coast.

Junior Class Meeting Tuesday at 12:00 in Leigh Anne's room. It is time to talk prom!

Have an idea for a school project, but need some support? Maybe you have a Passage that you need to buy supplies for or a class you are teaching that needs something extra. Part of the money raised for the auction goes towards funding special projects and initiatives. If you have an idea, please fill out a grant form, found in the office, and submit it by January 23rd either directly to Ad board at stelleradboard@gmail.com or turn it into the office. The grant committee will be reviewing forms and presenting final recommendations at the February Ad Board. Past funding grants have gone to purchase mats, music software, the washer/dryer, and more. Projects can be submitted by an individual student, staff member, club, or class. If you have questions, talk to Leigh Anne, Dale, Haleigh, Liam, or Bridget.

There will be a senior meeting Tuesday at noon in Ken's room. It's time to finalize planning for the Winter Prom and make other plans regarding the Overnighter/Midnighter. See you there!

If you have ever had aspirations of becoming a diplomat, Peace Corp volunteer, or just have a strong interest in international affairs, you are invited to join a country delegation for the Alaska Model United Nations. This year's conference is scheduled for the last weekend in February and you can get half of your conference fees paid by Op Group. Come to the meeting this Wednesday at noon in Ken's room for all the details. See you there!

Nurse Anne has re-arranged her office. She did this so the computer screen is not visible to everyone and so she can better facilitate confidentiality in other respects. When you come in to see Anne, please walk past her desk and stand or sit at the far end of her office away from the door. The medication and anything else you might need in is that area. Although there isn't a lot of room to navigate through, you will get in the habit of moving past her desk so that, eventually, it will become second nature to you. Thanks for being so cooperative with the changes.

LPF test out run through this Wednesday at 2:15 in the gym. Test out is this upcoming weekend.
