Let's gather as parents for casual conversations. We can meet during dances or at other times that meet our schedules.

Topic Ideas:

- Dating, are you serious?
- When is it a 'blue' or 'high drama' moment or something much more serious?
- High School, then what? How should we think about future when everything is in the moment?
- How can we be engaged in their learning in ways that are helpful to set them up as independent learners?
- How many risks are we taking? How many should students take?
- Where is testing helpful and where is it hurtful? How can we support?
- What does an engaged parent look like in middle and high school?

Disclaimer – We do not have ALL the answers but we think open conversations are helpful. Whenever it makes sense and is possible, we will ask 'an expert' to help inform our conversations. Please email Alyse.galvin@gmail.com with questions or ideas.
