

The Art of

PUPPETRY

This class will combine art, drama, and writing; and allow for lots of student creativity and fun. Students will do daily activities to get them used to puppetry, watch video examples of puppetry, and learn about different styles of puppetry. Students will practice making a variety of puppets, including sock puppets, shadow puppets, and hand puppets. Throughout the two weeks, students will also work in groups to write a short one-act puppet show, design and build their puppets and backdrop, and then practice and perform their shows in front of Steller students and, hopefully, nearby elementary schools. The class fee will cover supplies for three basic puppets, but students may need to bring in supplies to make additional puppets for their group show.
